RESPONSIBLE LIVING IN EAST AFRICA ENVIRONMENT

Environment refers to all things that surround man. Environment includes all sorts of things that affect the life of man and some other things around him.

Components of environment include Air, water, plants, animals, people, hills, mountains, temperature, buildings, land, wetlands and insects.

How does the environment help man to survive?

- Food
from plants and animals
- Shelt er for houses, schools, churches, Mosques that are built on land.

- Cloth
ing for protection from injury, cold, heat. The raw materials for making clothes are obtained from environment.
- Wate r for drinking, washing and cooking from lakes, rivers, wells and swamps.
- Healt h plants and some animals provide medicine for treatment.
- Secur ity to be secure from fierce animals, hunger, diseases and poverty.

Types of environment

- (i) Biolo gical Environment like plants and animals
- (ii) Physi

Environmental Protection

This is an act of insuring or protecting natural environment against damages.

General methods of environmental protection

Proper method s of farming

Proper methods of farming are the methods of growing crops and rearing of animals which protect the environment.

Examples of proper methods of farming.

Crop rotation - Mulching - Inter cropping - agro forestry , terracing , strip cropping , Bush fallowing , contour ploughing

Advantages of proper methods of farming.

- help to control soil erosion They burning

Effects of poor farming methods in the environment

- to soil erosion Lead
- lead to pollution of air or land They
- lead to reduction in rainfall formation They

- They lead to dry seasons

Note: a) Over grazing is where animals eat grass in an area and leave the soil bare.

- b) Over cropping is when same crop is repeatedly grown on the same piece of land without leaving it to rest.

- c) Bush burning is the burning of vegetation cover leaving the soil.

Alternative energy use.

This is the use of other sources of energy apart from wood fuel.

Other sources of energy include solar, Biogas from the garbage and animal waste, H.E.P, Geothermal from Hot, Springs.

Dangers of using wood fuel

- It leads to cutting down of trees for fire wood.
- It leads to air pollution through charcoal burning.
- It leads to soil erosion
- Reduces rainfall formation.

Conservation of wood fuel

- Using energy saving stoves
- Using energy efficient cooking methods (covering what is being cooked)
- Turning saw dust from timber into charcoal by mixing it with rice and coffee husks to form briquettes for cooking.

Minerals used as sources of energy.

- Uranium, crude oil, Natural gas, coal.

Importance of conservation practices

- It enables future generation to benefit from plants and animal resources.
- Conservation of forests helps in maintenance of stable climatic conditions. Cons
- Conservation of wetlands help in the promotion of the craft industry e.g. papyrus mats. Cons
- They help in the promotion of the tourism industry

- Vegetation covers control soil erosion.

Waste management

Waste is any material that is by product of human activity which has no further value.

Methods of proper management of wastes

- Reduction / minimise generation of waste. Reduction
- Re-use of waste. This is the act of using something more than once or in different ways. Re-use
- Recycling: Collecting materials that had been thrown away and processing them to make new products. Recycling
- Proper disposal of wastes Proper disposal
- Reject the use of materials which are difficult to get rid of e.g use of paper bags instead of buveera or polythene. Reject

Causes for the increase of wastes in the environment

- Lack of proper waste disposal places Lack of proper waste disposal places
- Lack of methods for recycling and re-use. Lack of methods for recycling and re-use.
- Use of resources wastefully. Use of resources wastefully.

Effects of poor waste management

Climatic changes

Climate is the average weather condition of a place recorded for along period of time.

Aspects of climate are Temperature and rainfall.

Factors affecting climate

Hum

an activities

- Altitude

Dista

nce from the Equator

- Distance from large water bodies

Ocea

n currents

- Prevailing winds

Natur

e of vegetation

Positive human activities to the climate

Afforestation

- Re-afforestation

- Agro forestry

- Conservation of swamps and forests.

Negative human activities to the climate

Deforestation - bush burning - swamp drainage, industrialization

The above human activities lead to global warming.

Global warming is the increase of temperatures in the atmosphere.

The gas that leads to global warming which takes the biggest percentage of green house gases is carbon-dioxide.

Effects of global warming

Melting of snow on high mountains

Reduction in the formation of rainfall

Reduction in the volume of water bodies

High temperatures

Consequences of irresponsible living in the environment

Floods / mud / landslides , pollution of land, water and air/ Diseases/ Depletion of resources/ Drought / Soil erosion Floods: Large amount of water covering an area that is usually dry.

Causes are; Too much rainfall / Tidal waves / melting of snow

Effects are; loss of animals / leads to destruction of crops

Leads to destruction of property. Destruction of roads, bridges and houses

- Displacement of people

Solutions are;

- Maintaining vegetation cover in catchment areas
- Constructing flood banks
- Creating reservoirs to hold excess water e.g dams
- By planting trees near river banks
- Educating people about floods, their cause, effects and prevention
- Conserving soil
- Using river gauges to forecast floods

Desertification: This is the process by which a large area of land has very little water/ water and very few plants growing on it.

Desertification comes as a result of drought. Drought is a long period of time when there is little or no rain and high temperature.

Pollution: this is a process of making air, water and soil dirty.

Pollutants are the substances that make air, water and soil dirty.

Types of pollution

Air pollution, Land pollution, Water pollution

Air pollution is the release of harmful and dangerous gases into the atmosphere or air.

How is air polluted?

- Fume
s from factories and industries
- Exha
ust fumes from cars, trains and other engines
- Toba cco smoke from smokers
- Heat
and smoke from burning forests and charcoal
- Radi
o active substances from bombs and atomic industries

Solution to air pollution

- Contr ol bush burning
- Redu cing the amount of lead in petrol
- Fittin
g exhaust gas purifiers on vehicles
- Main taining vegetation to avoid dusty environment
- Preve nting discharge from factories.

Noise / sound pollution is where there is too much sound or noise for the ear.

Causes of sound pollution

- ❖ Noise
from sound pollution

- ❖ from war weapons Noise
- ❖ from supersonic jets Noise
- ❖ from birds e.g weaver birds Noise
- ❖ from engines of vehicles and factories Noise
- ❖ c in markets from people who sell tapes or CD's Musi

Effects of noise pollution

- It causes stress
- It can cause permanent damage to the hearing system

Silt is sand or mud that is carried by flowing water and left at the mouth of a river. Silting is the disposition of soil / land into water bodies by erosion.

Effects of silting

- Creat ion of shallow lakes
- Redu ction of life span of the water body i.e swamps, river and lakes dry up.
- Flood ing of the surrounding areas from the inability of silted water and lakes to hold water.

Ways of controlling silting

- Contr olling soil erosion through terracing and tree planting
- Avoi d cultivation along river banks
- Prote ction of the vegetation covers in water. Water catchment areas like hill tops and hill sides.

Diseases related to pollution and contamination of environment

- Asth ma from industrial fumes and smoking
- Canc er from industrial chemical and smoking

- Dyse ntery, Cholera, Typhoid fever is caused as a result of untreated sewerage in water sources.
- Geriti
cal diseases caused by radio active substance from bombs. Increased blood pressure , abortion in some
- Dam age to the heart caused by excessive sound pollution
- Ment al disorders and headaches

Effects of pollution on the resource and organisms

- Wate r pollution kills fish and other living things in water.
- Land pollution by chemicals kills bacteria which help to maintain soil fertility
- Polyt
hene bags prevent water from sinking into the ground and eaten by animals causing death.
- Dust particles can block stomata of leaves causing them not to function during photosynthesis.

Effects of pollution on weather

- Air pollution from heavy industrial towns cause very heavy mist hence prevents sunlight and humidity.
- Relea se of heat in atmosphere can increase environment temperature
- Accu mulation in the atmosphere and this rises the temperature causing global warming.

Environmental degradation

This is the process of something being damaged or made worse.

This is the lowering of the quality or spoiling of our surrounding or environment.

Natural causes of environmental degradation

- Volc
anic eruption - Drought - Lightning - Floods
- Stor
ms

Human causes of environmental degradation

- gation
 - Soil degradation
 - Silting of water bodies
 - and degradation
 - Pollution
 - Deforestation
